X The Life and Times of Malcolm X

June 17, 2022 | Strand Theatre

AS TOLD
BY HISTORY, RACE,
AND JUSTICE
ON THE OPERA STAGE

As Told by: X, the Life and Times of Malcolm X

Boston history comes alive on Friday, June 17, at the Strand Theatre! Don't miss X: The Life and Times of Malcolm X, the operatic retelling of the life of an American icon, produced by Boston Modern Orchestra Project in partnership with Odyssey Opera.

Tickets are now available, and all tickets are pay-what-you-want—get yours here.

The first opera from Pulitzer Prize–winning composer Anthony Davis, X: The Life and Times of Malcolm X depicts, in a series of fast-moving vignettes, the galvanic life and career of Malcolm X (1925–1965). Davis' score echoes the “sound” of Malcolm's era and opens a powerful conversation about the history and living legacy of Malcolm X — in Boston and around the world.

BMOP's New England premiere performance of X, produced in partnership with Odyssey Opera, brings this seminal opera to the historic Strand Theatre in Dorchester, just blocks from the neighborhood where Malcolm Little lived in his youth with his sister Ella. Arrive early to the Strand Theatre for FREE pre-performance exhibits and events. Check the BMOP website for up-to-date information about event schedules.

Starring Davóne Tines in the title role and featuring Victor Robertson, Whitney Morrison, Joshua Conyers, and Ronnita Miller.

X is the first opera in As Told By: History, Race, and Justice on the Opera Stage, a five-year initiative featuring five operas by five Black composers about Black historical figures with ties to Boston. With performances, recordings, and community programs, As Told By is a celebration of Black creativity, a city-wide conversation starter, and a force for change in American opera. OLMSTED NOW PARKS
EQUITY AND SPATIAL JUSTICE GRANT

Apply Now for Olmsted Now Parks Equity and Spatial Justice Grants

Olmsted Now recently announced a parks equity and spatial justice grant in partnership with the Emerald Necklace Conservancy.

The bicentennial of the birth of Frederick Law Olmsted is marked by Greater Boston with Olmsted Now, a collaboration to amplify the vibrancy and inclusivity of parks and public space.

Olmsted Now aims to strengthen equity and community connection in Boston by centering decision-making for bicentennial programs with a Committee of Neighborhoods—Boston leaders trusted for their commitment to under-heard voices and under-served open spaces. Committee of Neighborhoods members draw from around Boston and especially areas adjacent to the southern parks of the Emerald Necklace and those that are especially valued by neighbors who identify as Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC). To create opportunities for equitable and community-based parks programming for the Bicentennial, the Committee of Neighborhoods has launched the Olmsted Now Parks Equity and Spatial Justice Grant, offering 20 grants in total.
