Boston's Community Choice Electricity Program

Opt-in or opt-up to Boston's Community Choice Electricity Program!

Boston Community Choice Electricity (BCCE) gives Bostonians greater control over the electricity that powers their homes and businesses. The program allows the City of Boston to secure renewable energy-created electricity on behalf of its residents and businesses at a competitive rate. By using the City's collective buying power, the City aims to provide affordable and renewable electricity to the program's customers. Right now, the electricity rates of all three levels of BCCE are lower than the standard Eversource rate! BCCE is good for your wallet and for the planet. Learn more and opt-in/up here — it's easy! There's no contract or fees, and you can opt-out any time. Email program manager Theresa Teixeira (theresa.teixeira@boston.gov) with questions, or sign up for a 15-minute one-one-one meeting via her Calendly.

Bridges to Green Jobs

LISC's free "Bridges to Green Jobs" program is now LIVE for Winter 2023

Do you want to learn a new trade, have the opportunity to make $75,000+ in 6 months to a year, and open doors to new career pathways? You might be a great fit for a career in the clean energy industry as a Weatherization Technician. Weatherization (also known as insulation/air sealing) is all about making homes more comfortable and energy efficient; this means warm in the winter and cool in the summer, while cutting down on energy bills. This is an athletically demanding and skilled occupation with high-earning potential and career growth. For details and to fill out an application, visit this website: lisc.org/greenjobs.
